Multi-class Logistic Regression

- Up to now we've focused on the binary classification scenario

- Logistic Regression can also be extended to multi-class classification scenarios

- In these scenarios, the model draws a separate boundary for each class

- And just like in the binary classification scenario, the Logistic Regression model essentially predicts the output to be in the class with the highest probability